

MED Techs Matter

Most patients meet medical professionals while receiving health care. Though tests are often short, the services diagnostic medical technologists and technicians provide are always essential to patient care. These health care providers are often overlooked.

Ask the professional caring for you today if they are a medical technologist and what they do.

You can also meet medical technologists online and find out about the many ways they work for patients.

Go to cupesaskhcc.ca and click on the Med Techs tab.

CUPE